ABOUT ME

Hello World. My very first code that set me on this path. Coding has become my passion and problem solving has become my addiction.

My love for software development has now reached a point where I relish the opportunity to gain more experience in software development - bringing the constant desire to learn, positivity and team work to the team I end up working on.

EXPERIENCE

INSURANCE CONSULTANT • DIRECT LINE GROUP • 05/2013 – PRESENT

- A key team member, I help to push sales not only as a consultant, but by providing motivation and the drive to succeed within the members of the team and sales department.
- Constantly working with management to motivate and push sales/training amid individuals in the Best for Customer department in the test and learn environment.
- Always striving to meet the targets set by Direct Line, whether in my own role as a consultant or as a facilitator in the test and learn environment cultivated in Best for Customer.
- Always sharing best practice in order to help the team meet standards set within the company.
- I have built extensive professional relationships with management across the company spanning many sites and departments.

EDUCATION

PRODUCT DESIGN CERT HE • 2010 - 2012 • BOLTON UNIVERSITY

EXTRA CURRICULAR

I enjoy watching a lot of sports but also big on gaming. I keep myself constantly in a frame of mind to want to create though by hosting a weekly podcast created by myself and a friend, talking about anything and everything.
